In 1984, a group of musicians got together to form a band, and within two weeks, entered the Marlboro Talent Roundup in Southern California. They did not win, but vowed to try again next year. In the meantime, they continued to perform in clubs, honing their craft, and quickly becoming a favorite with fans around the area. In 1985, the group competed again in the Roundup, won first place, then appeared in concert with Merle Haggard, George Strait, and Alabama at the LA Forum, and sang the National Anthem at a Laker Game. Not too shabby a start for AMERICAN MADE!!

American Made winning the Marlboro Talent Roundup in 1985

In the 26 years since then, it's been quite a ride--the group has appeared at Disneyland, Disney World, Knott's Berry Farm, in casinos in Las Vegas, Reno, Tahoe, and Laughlin, as well as at fairs, rodeos, concerts, nightclubs, and special events throughout the West. Late actor/singer Dennis Weaver chose AMERICAN MADE as his band when he took his country music show on the road, touring for two seasons and appearing on TNN and Canadian television. The group was also invited to perform at Dennis & Gerry Weaver's 50th wedding anniversary celebration in Colorado.

Featuring Sharon Wyner on lead vocals and keyboards, this talented four-piece group showcases lush harmonies and sizzling instrumental work.

The group also features "Wild Man" Nat Wyner on vocals, fiddle, mandolin, and guitar.

John Hunt on lead guitar and vocals,

Ed Eblen on drums and vocals.

AMERICAN MADE has appeared with numerous major artists, including Alabama, George Strait, Merle Haggard, Dwight Yoakum, Crystal Gayle, Gary Allen, Marty Stuart, Chris LeDoux, Charlie Daniels, John Conlee, Michael Martin Murphy, Gary Morris, The Kentucky Headhunters, Baillie & the Boys, McBride & the Ride, Clinton Gregory, Gene Watson, Boy Howdy, T. Graham Brown, Janie Fricke, Tom T. Hall, Johnny Paycheck, and Johnny Lee.

AMERICAN MADE has won over forty awards from the California Country Music Association (see Awards page), including Band of the Year, Vocal Group of the Year, and Entertainer of the Year. Their self-produced album, "Forty Miles From Lonely", was voted Album of the Year by the CCMA. The group continues to perform with enthusiasm, always adding to its repertoire, and to its growing list of clients, fans, and friends.
